TODAY

The building blocks of progress, which are shown here, urge us to take one last, long look at today. We visualize the school we knew best, the friends that were truest, and the teachers that guided us to success. We remember the hundreds of small incidents that took place in these corridors, some sad, some happy, but all remembered and none forgotten. This school sheltered our dreams and understood each defeat or triumph. In its hallways we seek only fading memories. Whether summer, winter, spring, or fall here is our alma mater as we remember her most clearly.

TOMORROW

We are all striving for a better tomorrow. There are many ways to pave the road to the future. You may find success at the end of the road, or failure, but it all depends on how skillfully you planned, how much you worked and goals you wished to attain. If only we can look back and see the progress and achievements we have contributed it will satisfy us.

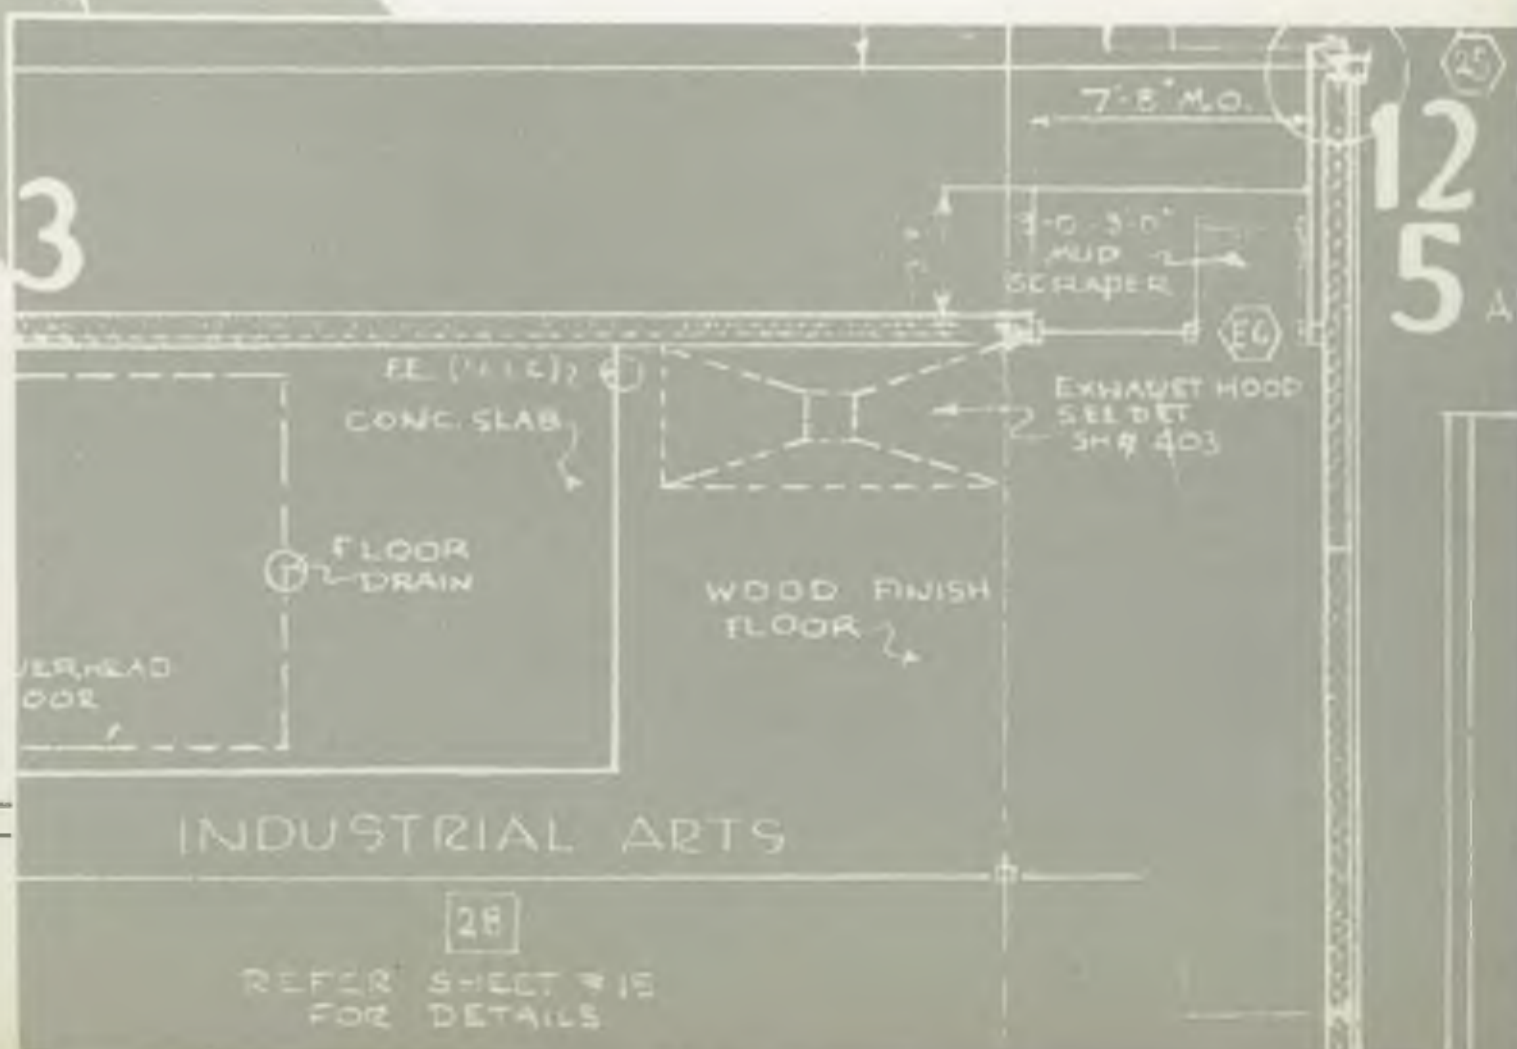

If we should return someday in the future to our old alma mater, no doubt many changes will have been made. There will be new faces, new additions, and changes that make the school we used to know seem strange and unfamiliar. At least we will know that we helped to create the building for an improved tomorrow.

FACULTY

Our teachers are the real builders, the real creators. They not only develop our minds in a particular field of study, but help us to prepare for adult life, with adult responsibilities.

They have always been kind and considerate, anxious to help us untangle our seemingly complex problems. A teacher does more than just teach; a teacher also acts as a friend, a parent, and a counselor. Not only are they a help to us during school hours but they also take on extra jobs such as being advisors and chaperones. A teacher must set an example as a spiritual and moral leader, guiding and directing the students along the right path. They must take on the job of molding us into useful citizens of tomorrow.

MR. LLEWYN U. THOMAS

Jane Schenk is full time secretary in the office, with Mary Stanton as her part time assistant.

The ADMINISTRATION deserves our appreciation

Congratulations Class of 1957—

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I extend congratulations to you, the Class of 1957. You are a fine group of young people. It has been a pleasure for your teachers and parents to watch you grow both physically and intellectually and to help you construct a strong foundation upon which to build your life.

Your future will depend upon the knowledge and perspective that you have gained in school and how you use them. We trust that you will be successful and will do your best to make your community a model in which to live. Your future is bright and the happiness that you will secure depends upon you and you alone. Best Wishes to each and every graduate.

Llewyn U. Thomas, Principal

Our Board of Education, which represents people of the school district, provides us with modern facilities and betters our surroundings in every way. This group develops policies which determine the course of our school year.

Their efforts are appreciated by all of us and we extend to them our thanks.

Mr. Koby, Mr. Landino, Mr. Perry, Mr. Standish, Mr. Bassett, Mr. Sears, Mr. Howse.

MISS FYFE
History

MR. KING
Guidance

Miss Fyfe, our Citizenship Education teacher, has as her hobbies scouting, traveling, photography, and handicrafts. She likes Naples, New York. Mr. King is our guidance director. Kitty and Mike are his pride and joy. He loves hunting, fishing, gardening, music, long vacations, and plays the guitar and harmonica.

and best efforts as does the '57 FACULTY

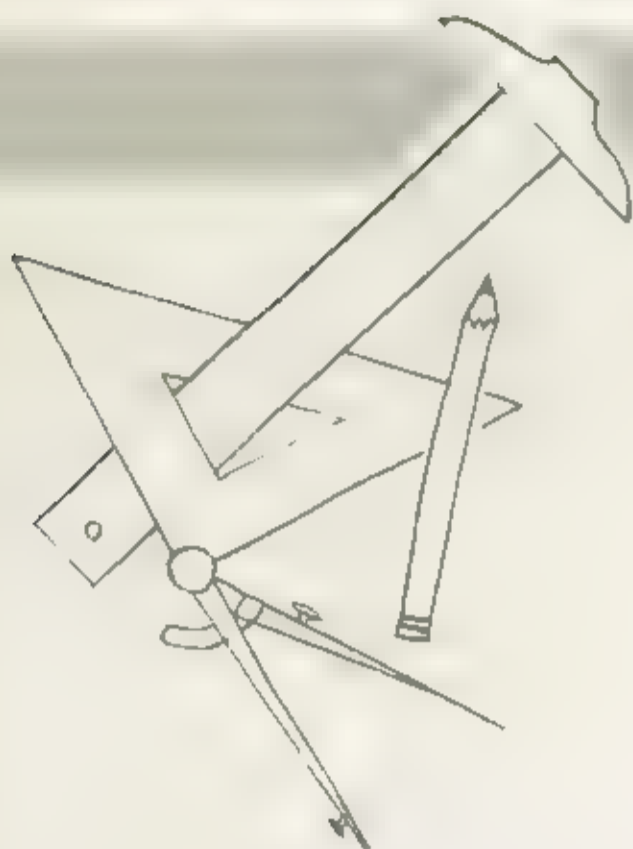

Banking plays an important part in building our future," states Miss Fyfe, while discussing an important aspect of World Problems

SOCIAL STUDIES

Two of the main functions of social studies are the teaching of good citizenship and of the democratic way of life. Studying geography, world problems of today, ancient civilization, and government are a few of the chief aims of this department. These courses are the backbone of our American democracy of tomorrow.

Early civilization in Europe is better understood through the use of maps in our world history class

MRS. MCKENNA
School Nurse

MR. RICHTER
Industrial Arts

Mrs. McKenna, our school nurse, likes antiques, reading, and animals. She likes to travel and has visited California. She loves New Orleans. Her pet peeve is people that wound animals and don't kill them. Mr. Richter is our Industrial Arts teacher. He likes rock'n roll, good coffee, and lemon meringue pie. He dislikes weak coffee and mowing the lawn.

LANGUAGE ARTS introduce students to new ideas and new understandings

Words that are knowledge, words that create a picture, words that let us talk to each other—these are words that students have learned to use by reading books, writing their own stories, and studying the languages of other countries.

French and Latin courses, which are available in our school, are two important foreign languages. They release us from being tied to the bonds of one language, help us to travel more intelligently, and give us a peek at the way in which another people live.

MRS. HARRINGTON
Homemaking
Junior High Science

MR. ZIEMBA
Latin
Junior High English
Freshman English

MISS SHAY
School Librarian

Mrs. Harrington is our homemaking teacher. One of her hobbies is reading and she enjoys sewing. Little "Andy" is one of her special outside interests. Gum chewing is her dislike. She considers Naples her ideal for a small town. Mr. Ziemba teaches Latin and English. Miss Shay is our librarian. She enjoys hair dressing as a recreation. She enjoys reading Early American literature. She dislikes litterbugs and snow banks when she wants to get to school unless they are deep enough.

L. Schwingle and F. Lincoln look over "Letter Perfect" part of English Magazine. Each has won an award for an outstanding letter.

Mr. Ziemba explains to Latin I class how Roman temples were built in ancient times.

It's fun for the French II class to put together a map of France under the supervision of their teacher, Mrs. Gray.

SCIENCE, MATH and HEALTH

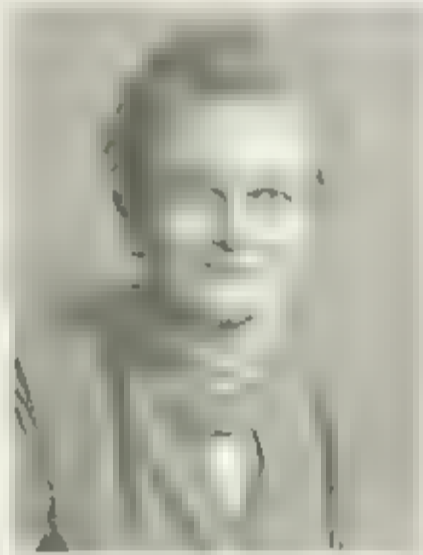

The Science Department of our school offers the students interesting courses, such as, general science, biology, chemistry, and physics. These courses help us to understand the laws of nature and what makes things tick. Again this year each student who took a science course made a project to enter in our Science Fair. Under the careful guidance of Mr. Hunt, our understanding of the different fields of science expands. Being able to apply what we have learned by experimenting is also interesting. By majoring in science, a student's choice of careers is much wider.

MRS. FREDERICK
Vocal Music

MR. SCHULTZ
*Agriculture
General Math*

MRS. GRAY
*Vice-Principal
French and Math*

MR. GRUNERT
Business

Mrs. Frederick, our music teacher and chorus director, enjoys all kinds of music. She plays the organ in a Honeoye church. Her husband is principal of the Honeoye Central School and she enjoys her two teenage daughters. Mr. Schultz is our agriculture teacher. Fishing, hunting, and trapping are his main hobbies. He enjoys his teaching position and likes people. Mrs. Gray is our Math and French teacher. She enjoys young people, good books, good movies, cooking (if and when there is time) and people in general. Mr. Grunert, our commercial teacher, enjoys music, good literature of all kinds, dancing and sociology. His dislike is inattentive students.

Mr. Hunt shows his geometry class how to measure inscribed angles, central angles, and arcs in a circle.

Mrs. Gray gives some helpful pointers on algebraic equations

all affect our lives

Health is very important to everyone. We have a health course in our school which is taught by our school nurse, Mrs. McKenna. Each year every student in school is given a physical examination to insure physical fitness. We also receive eye and ear tests, and periodical clinics are held to inoculate pupils against disease. The new addition will provide improved quarters for these activities.

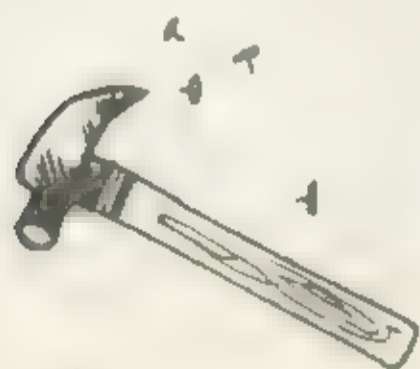

D. Acomb, P. Riefer, and G. Hoh follow directions of chemistry workbook while doing an experiment on distillation.

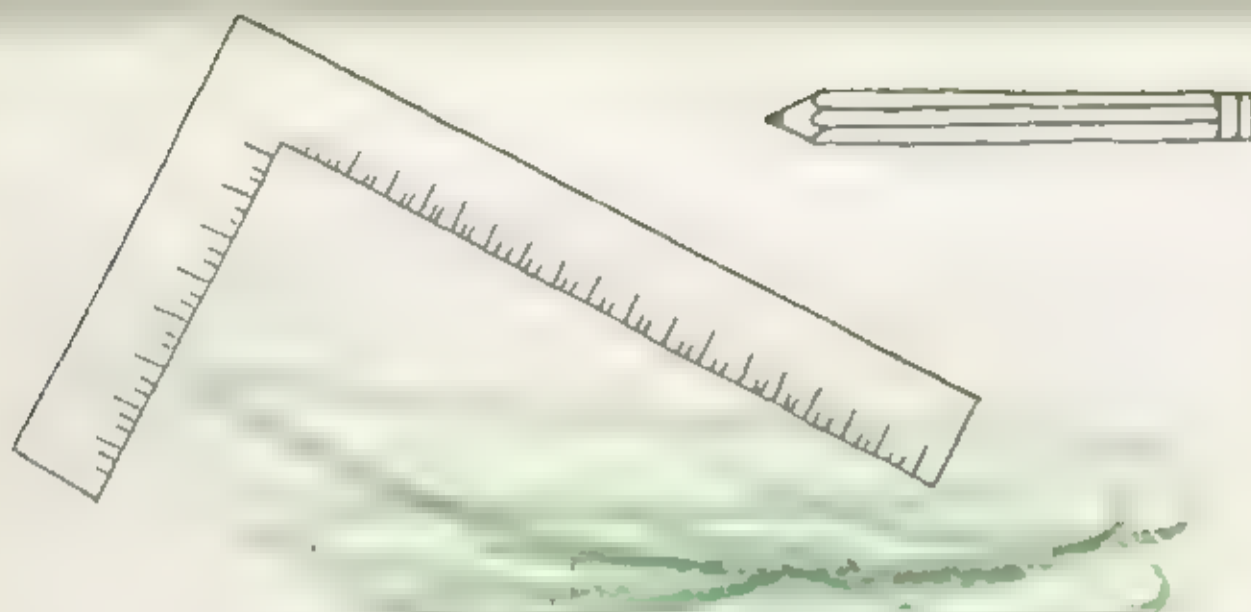

A. Hawkins and D. Chapman eagerly discuss the dissection of a frog under the careful supervision of Mr. Hunt.

Math is one of the most important subjects in which a student can major. It gives him a broader knowledge of arithmetic, develops his mind by figuring out practical problems, and gives him a wider and freer choice of careers. Mrs. Gray is head of the math department, teaching algebra I, algebra II, and trigonometry. Mr. Hunt, our science teacher, teaches plane geometry.

D. Curtis is pointing out to these boys the various organs of the human body in one of the health classes.

MRS. DEAN
English, Journalism

VOCATIONAL skills grow from technical subjects

Typing students practice for speed then accuracy, to prepare themselves for June regents

Vocational skills grow from business, homemaking, agriculture, and industrial arts. Through these courses one develops abilities which help to solve problems in later life. These courses require the use and knowledge of many machines.

Agricultural training helps one to prepare for farm life. Homemaking prepares students for more abundant family life. Industrial arts instruct students in the use of machines to make various materials. Business courses provide students with enough knowledge to secure positions as typists, stenographers, secretaries, bookkeepers, clerks, and salesmen.

The happy look on the faces of these Ceramics students could mean only that their projects are successful.

J. Williams, D. Reed, and R. Harris find a great deal of pleasure in sewing and styling their own clothes

MR. HUNT
Science, Geometry

MRS. MORSE
Art

MR. MOORE
Instrumental Music

MR. GIBBONS
Driver Training

Mrs. Dean teaches English and journalism. Her hobbies are reading, traveling, cooking, and working with people, especially young people. Any form of poor sportsmanship is her dislike. Mr. Hunt, our science teacher, enjoys playing the piano, gardening, painting, and teaching science. Among his dislikes are Texas and a person with an alibi. Mrs. Morse, our art teacher, enjoys putting on shows, re-decorating houses, resting, good books, midnight snacks, and Seneca Point in the summer. Alarm clocks are her pet peeves. Mr. Moore is our band leader. His hobbies are being a general handyman for a fine family, and dreaming of a music room of our own next year. Seafood and Hudsons are his likes. He dislikes the tower room stairs and wrong notes. Mr. Gibbons, our driver training teacher, enjoys music and automobiles. His most important dislike is cottage cheese.

Mr. Gibbons is advising these teenagers on safe driving and courtesy on the road.

These Future Farmers are seriously discussing different types of seeds. Mr. Schultz is always on hand to give his welcome advice.

MR. CLARK
Physical Education

MISS BLAUVELT
Physical Education

Mr. Clark is our boys' physical education instructor. His hobbies are fishing, hunting, and trapping. Golf, good food, winters in Florida, his wife and children, and winning games are among his likes. Miss Blauvelt is our girls' physical education teacher. Her hobby is camping and she likes sports cars and spring. She dislikes house cleaning and cooking.

Rhythm may be applied to physical education as well as to music. Besides providing a welcome break from the day's academic schedule, gym classes develop the coordination, good sportsmanship, and leadership valuable in all school experiences.

Cultures of the world are studied through various courses two of which are music and art. Songs from Czechoslovakia and from the Pennsylvania Dutch folklore are unique as is their art.

RHYTHM HIGHLIGHTS

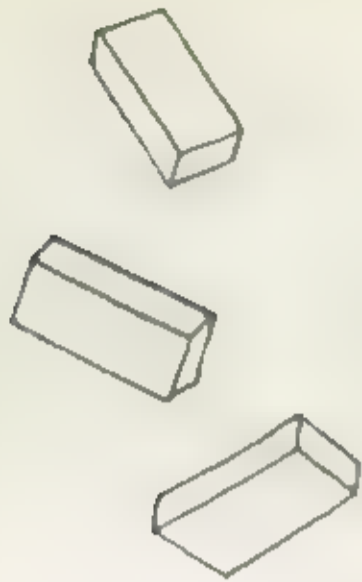

These four musicians add much to the pleasing harmony which we hear coming from the senior band room.

Mr. Reals, cadet physical education instructor, shows G. Hoh, D. Acomb, and C. Widmer, the fundamental techniques of basketball.

These chorus and band members had the privilege of being chosen to attend the Sectional All-State Festival which was held at Penn Yan this year.

MR. SCHICK
Junior High

MISS SANDERS
Junior High

MR. MILLER
Junior High

Mr. Schick teaches junior high social studies and Citizenship Education I. Reading biographies, sports, and weekend excursions to scenic, historic places in New York are his hobbies. His ambition is to own a new Chevy V-8 as he dislikes his '53 Ford. Miss Sanders, a junior high teacher, enjoys reading history of New York State and traveling. She also likes to visit museums and antique shops, bowling, playing bridge, and working in her flowers. Mr. Miller, a junior high teacher, enjoys hunting, fishing, trapping, and growing dahlias, walking in the wind and rain. He dislikes people who know a "short cut" and who know what is good for "me."

BRIDGING THE GAP

When we are in junior high school we feel that we are bridging the gap between grade school and high school. We feel we have come a long way, but still have a long way to go. We are not only gaining more independence and responsibility, but are also building toward a future goal—entering high school.

This looks like a most interesting experiment in junior high science.

These eighth graders are discussing the history of the United States with Mr. Schick.

COOKS

Mrs. Dinzler, Mrs. Cornish, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Danaher, Mrs. Miller.

For Naples students these cooks prepare hot balanced meals which are good to eat and very nutritious.

COOKS, CUSTODIANS and BUS DRIVERS do their part

CUSTODIANS

P. Sweltz, A. Mayer, C. Atwater, C. Bush, D. Pridmore

These men sweep our floors and do all odd jobs to keep our school spic and span. They will be rewarded with a brand new addition, on which to lavish their loving care.

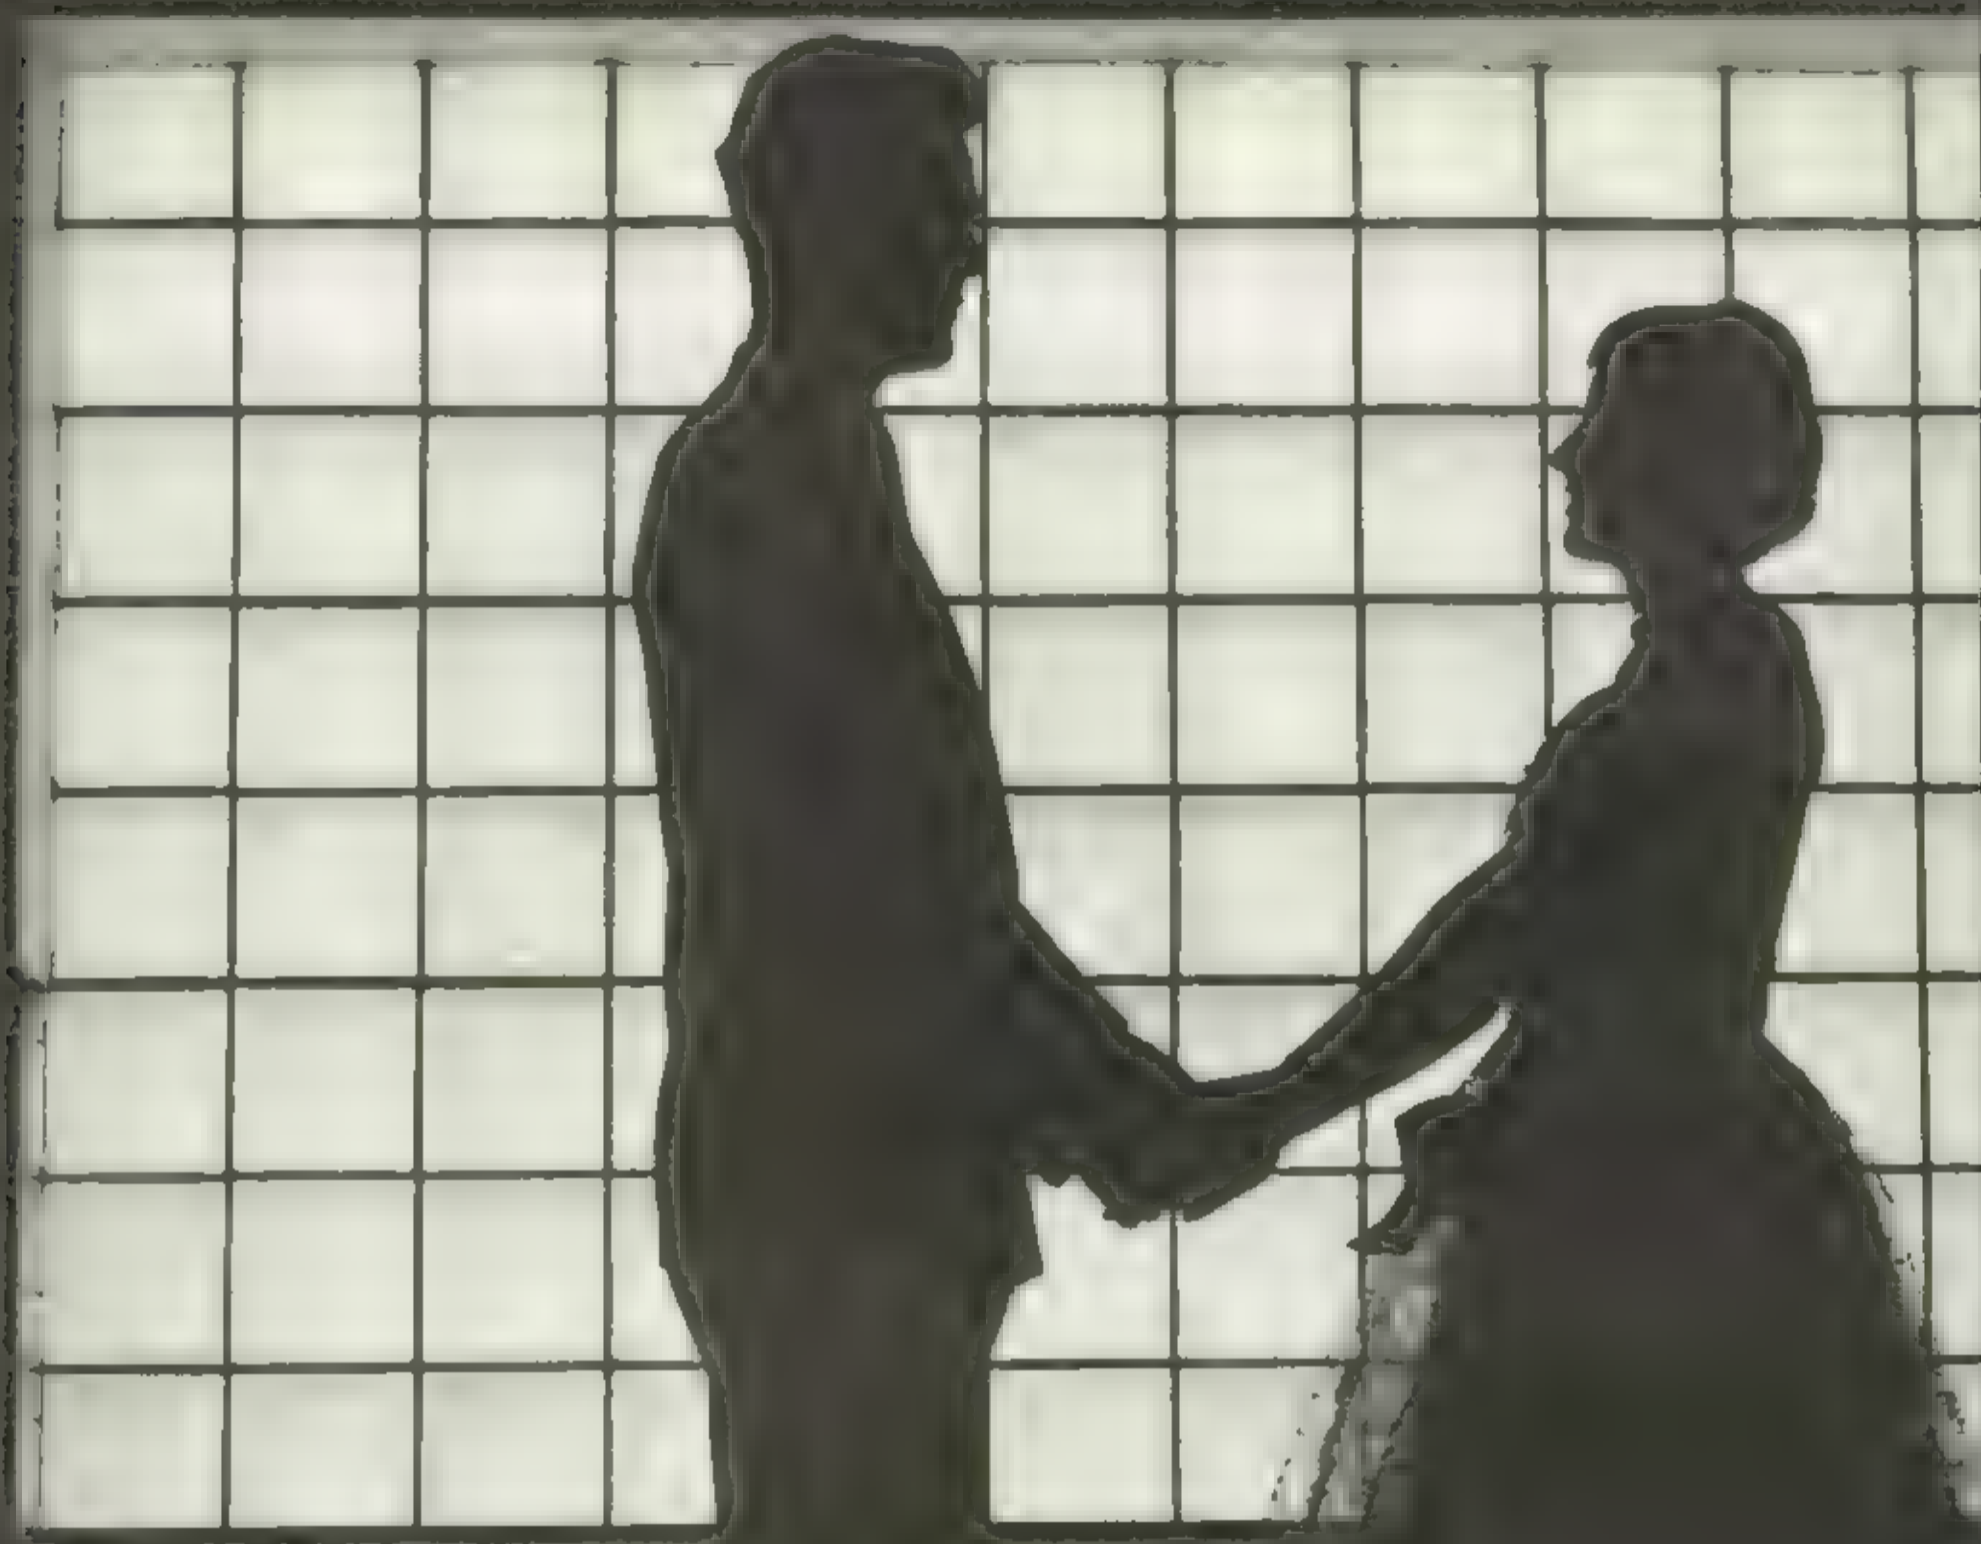

First Row: G. Blanchard, E. Herrick, C. Bush, G. Ostrander, R. Pridmore

Second Row: F. Standish, M. Chapman, L. Gibbous, A. Corey, R. Burke, P. Sweltz

These men drive in all kinds of weather, over all kinds of roads, to transport students safely to school.

BUS DRIVERS

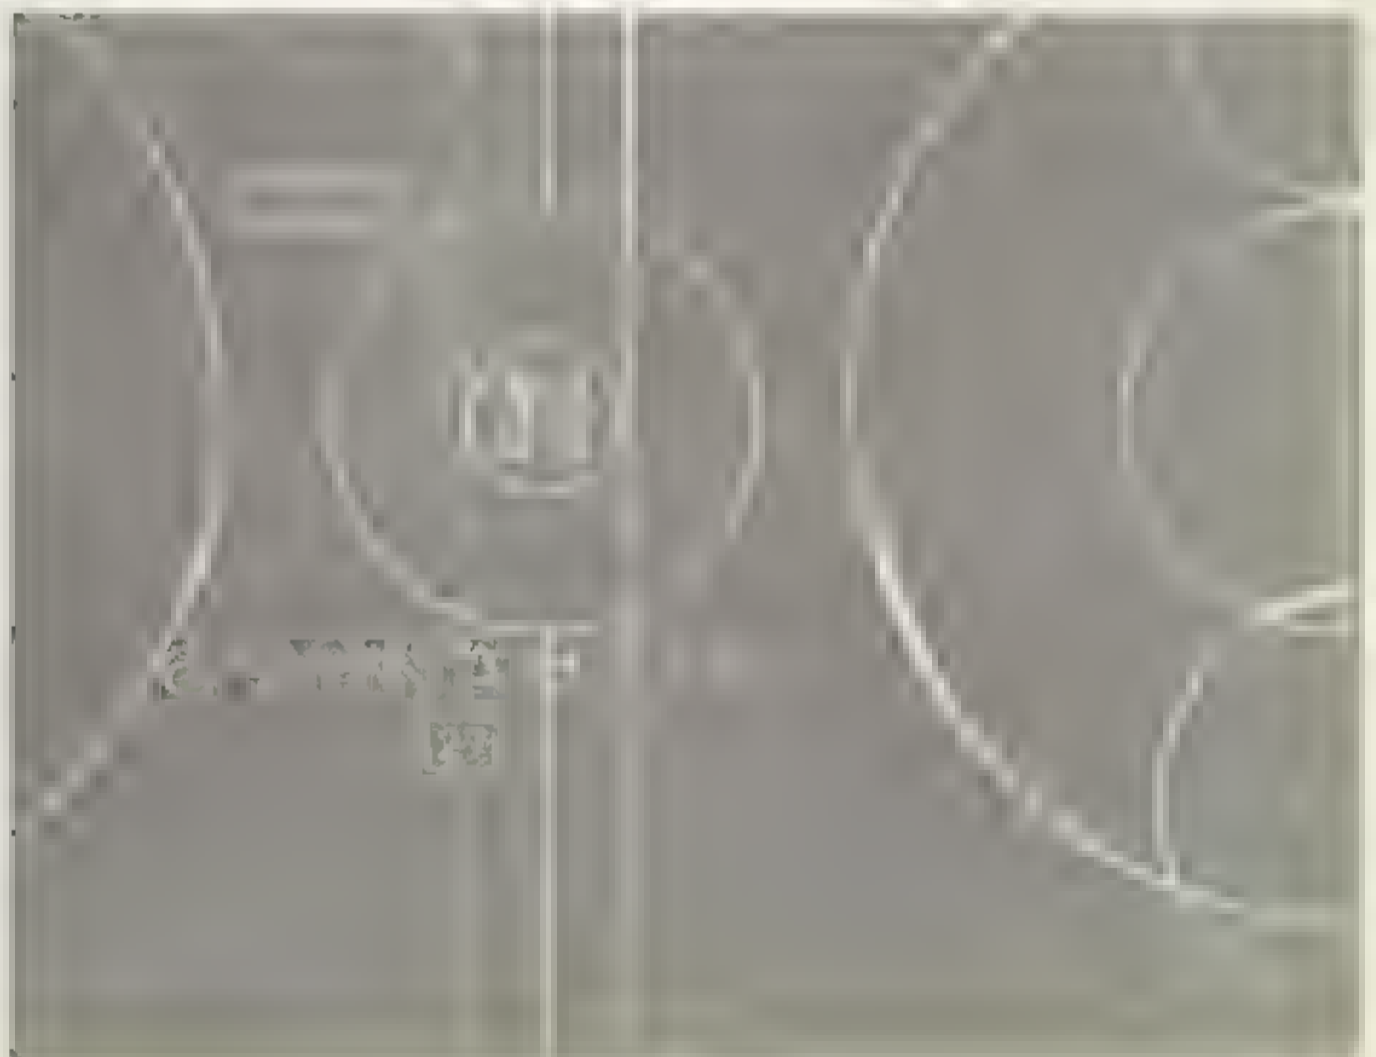

ACTIVITIES

There are many clubs and organizations in our school which any high school student can join, depending on his interests. School is no longer a place where you go just to learn. By joining these clubs you can cultivate a better personality, learn how to work in group activities, and learn how to get along better with fellow students. A person with mental alertness, seriousness of purpose, industry and initiative can soon become a leader.

Some of the organizations are News Staff, Yearbook Staff, Band and Chorus, athletic associations, Student Council, Honor Society, F.H.A. and F.F.A. Any student interested in forming a new club, is allowed to do so, as long as he stays within the boundaries of good taste. Usually each group has a teacher who guides them, showing the parliamentary procedure, and arbitrating differences.

Often, interest in the purpose of these clubs helps a student to choose his career or life hobby. Participation in extra-curricular activities will give us fonder and more enjoyable memories of our high school life.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Absent, Mrs. Harrington

Our STUDENT COUNCIL represents every phase of school life

Our Student Council is the foundation of the governing body of our school. It is through this group that we establish a better knowledge of parliamentary procedure, iron out school difficulties and try to form basic school rules. This organization lets us take on large responsibilities and teaches us the need of a government whether school, city, or state.

The monitor system is one of the projects that we did originate and strongly enforce. A flower bulb contest was one of our money raising projects. The highlight of the year is our election of officers which is patterned after federal elections.

Through these activities we shall build leaders who will make and support the frame work of tomorrow's government.

OFFICERS

First Row: J. Graff, D. Wheat. Second Row: B. Burd, J. Reed, K. Conrad, Mr. Hunt

First Row: E. Graff, Mrs. Gray, J. Reed, B. Orr, K. Conrad, J. Adams, Mr. Thomas, D. Acomb.

The HONOR SOCIETY, its most coveted honor

OFFICERS

E. Graff, President, K. Conrad, Treasurer, D. Acomb, Vice President, B. Orr, Secretary.

To be selected as a member of the National Honor Society is one of the highest awards that a high school student can receive. It is those who have climbed the steps of character, leadership, scholarship, and service that are chosen for this honor.

We strive to help others in every possible way. This year we were proud to have our permanent members induct the new members. The highlight of the year came when the senior members exchanged visits with the students of a high school in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada.

All good school citizens are building for the future.

NEWS STAFF

First Row: B. Orr, G. Scott, C. Kapins, B. Burd, G. Graff, Mrs. Dean, D. Duclos.
Second Row: L. Standish, K. Conrad, S. Harrington, J. Luffman, J. Phillips
Third Row: R. Harris, D. Reed, B. Bartholomew, M. Lyon, R. Docteur, J. Brand, S. Randall, J. Richards, M. Burnett, B. Reed, M. Mueller.

The NEWS STAFF keeps the Community aware of its school and activities

The organization in our school which helps to improve public relations and to give students practice in the elements of journalism is our News Staff. Two main functions of the staff are publishing the "Tower Tattler," our school newspaper, and reporting school news in "The Naples Record" each week. This is the second year in our school that a sufficient number of students have been interested enough in reporting to have Mrs. Dean, our adviser, teach a journalism course.

Three News Staff members, G. Scott, D. Duclos, and C. Kapins, help to put the "Tower Tattler," our school newspaper, to bed.

Meeting our deadlines and having "noses for news" are two of our responsibilities.

G. Graff, R. Docteur, R. Harris, K. Conrad, and D. Reed help to put together the latest issue of the Tower Tattler while Mrs. Dean looks over the first copy.

First Row: G. Scott, Mrs. Gray, B. Orr, G. Graff. Second Row: R. Dillon, G. Strong, F. Hoh, G. Acomb, B. Hawkins, M. Lyon. Third Row: Mrs. Dean, C. Kapins, L. Pulver, B. Burd, M. Donley, V. Seager, D. Duclos, J. Williams, L. Bills, A. Hawkins, J. Graff.

YEARBOOK STAFF

The NEAPOLITAN tries to convey our School Spirit

The one aim in mind each year for the members of Yearbook Staff is to create a good yearbook filled with original ideas and created independently. In order to have a yearbook we must raise money through patrons and ads, sponsoring roller skating parties, suppers, and field day.

Constructing a yearbook takes much planning, cooperation, and hard work to meet the deadlines. Some of the jobs are: planing layouts, getting ads and patrons, writing and typing the copy. Helping to create the yearbook gives a student a sense of responsibility.

Our goal is to make a book which not only satisfies the student body, but also gives us a sense of achievement and capability.

Fleischman, L. Fisher.

Our CHORUSES give our vocal talents full play in all the age groups

Building our vocal talents is the main purpose of our chorus. The Fall Concert, the Christmas Pageant, and the Spring Concert were some of the activities during the year. Several of us attended the Winter Festival at Honeoye and All State at Penn Yan. Bruce Hawkins had the honor of singing in the State Festival at Syracuse. In the spring, Naples played host to the Annual County Festival. The entire chorus participated in the County and State Festivals where we received a rating.

Participation is the key to enjoyment in our musical organizations.

MR. MOORE

Contributing to the music minded of our school is our talented band under the direction of Mr. Moore. Striving to get a good rating at the Spring County Festival and the All State Festival is one of our main aims. We also display our rhythm and style for assemblies and concerts given at school. This year we were fortunate to have several of our members attend the Sectional All State Festival at Penn Yan and mass band at Honeoye.

The band department presents a varied program of instrumental activities; concerts are planned annually, but small ensembles are called on to perform frequently for banquets, meetings, churches, and home talent shows.

SR. BAND OFFICERS:

Ever alert, our FUTURE HOMEMAKERS look ahead

D. Reed, President; B. Bartholomew, Vice President; P. Watkins, Treasurer; D. Pulver, Secretary; T. Baader, Secretary.

Our motto, "Toward New Horizons," expresses the purpose of our organization, to learn to live better today in order that our lives and families may be better tomorrow.

The F.H.A. got off to a fine start this year by sponsoring a "Sadie Hawkins Record Hop" in October and presenting a play, "The Sands of Time" in February.

Our F.H.A. and F.F.A. dance and banquet was one of our annual events.

The F.F.A. is designed to supplement training opportunities for boys who are progressing toward the "goal of establishment in a farming business." Future farmers not only work well together, but they know how to provide organized recreation for themselves and others in the community.

Our crop demonstration is one of our main events of the year. Last year our Naples Chapter won first prize. Our F.F.A. Fair and Banquet are two of our annual projects. We also have a basketball and baseball team which is made up of F.F.A. members.

The true aim of the organization might be expressed through our motto: "Learning to do, doing to learn, earning to live, and living to serve."

Being crowned queen is a happy event for Gail, while her attendants are just as thrilled

Making a wish at the wishing pool attracted many couples and made the evening complete for everyone.

The JUNIOR PROM, a thing of

The buying of the tickets was the beginning of a wonderful evening ahead.

During the grand march the thought in every junior girl's mind is "Who's going to be chosen queen?"

The punch bowl brought the pause that refreshes during intermission at the prom.

During the intermission a few couples mingle outside to enjoy the warm air and talk over the wonderful moments of the prom beauty and fun for everyone

We juniors started planning the annual Junior Prom in April. All of our time was spent in thinking of our theme and choosing a good orchestra that could be enjoyed by all.

After thinking of several themes we chose "Starlight." Then we started choosing committees and planning for a memorable prom. With the prom approaching very rapidly everyone worked extra hard. With three days left to spare, the decoration of the gym was started.

As we and our friends danced to the dreamy music under the star-lit canopy, all our worries and hard work were forgotten. We remember only the glamorous crowning of the queen, the fragrance of corsages, the new formals—

Don Jone's orchestra furnishes the dreamy music for our Star Light setting

While the dance is going on a few sit it out and enjoy a restful talk.

MONITORS—The Monitor System, which is supervised and made up of Student Council members, helps to enforce student discipline by the students themselves. Only with the co-operation of the student body can this system be effective.

SPORTSMANSHIP—The Sportsmanship Club strives to promote good conduct and order among spectators at games. Good sportsmanship is an important element at any sports event whether we win or lose. The spectators must learn to accept all official decisions gracefully. The school in each league which is considered most sportsmanlike receives a banner.

Smaller Groups but large in their importance

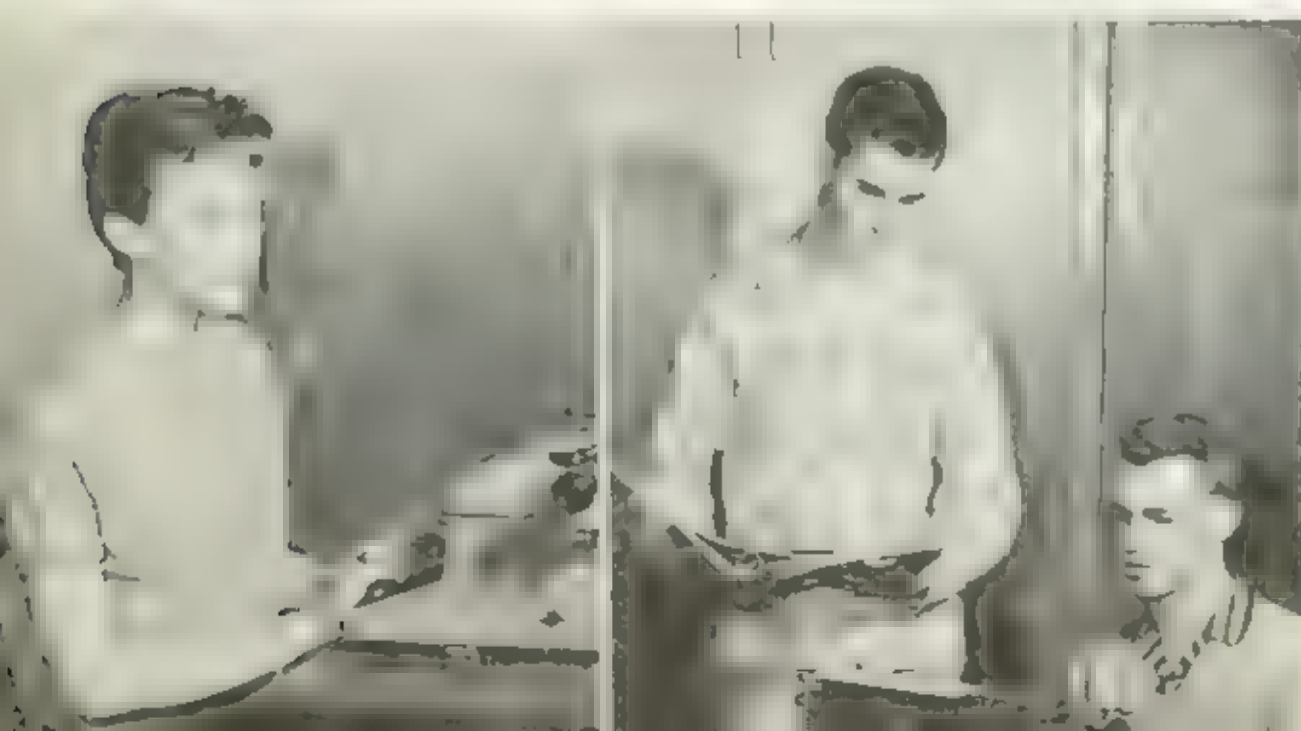

VISUAL AIDS—The students in the school that have the skill of operating the film projectors help us in our use of visual aids. Building our knowledge through educational films is made possible by the time and effort that these worthy students give.

GIRLS STATE

BOYS STATE
C. Widmer, E. Graff

BOYS STATE AND GIRLS STATE—Carl Widmer and Gene Graff were chosen to attend Boys State last summer. Selected for Girls State was Kathy Conrad. The program inspires and instills a deep sense of responsibility and obligation by educating them in the principles of democracy, and by teaching them the duties, privileges, and rights of American citizenship.

LIBRARY CLUB

This club helps to promote an interest in using and caring for our library. These volunteers and Miss Shay, our librarian, prepare new books, care for magazines, and repair books. This club is also one that the junior high and grades can participate in as well as senior high school students. Sponsoring a greater interest among all pupils and teachers in the use of library materials and books is their aim

Two more important clubs at Naples

G. A. A.

The Girls' Athletic Association has been very active this year. They had a basketball team and also learned techniques of playing badminton and tennis, under the capable teaching of their coach, Miss Blauvelt.

Doris Reed adds the finishing touch to Dick's makeup.

"The Man on the Stairs"

In presenting a play many people who put in long hours of hard work are behind the scenes and do not receive the deserving credit that goes to them. Without excellent crews of makeup, properties, electricians, advertising, costumes, stage management, prompting, and student directing, the play "The Man on the Stairs" wouldn't have been a success. More credit than words can express goes to the director, Mrs. Dean and these people behind the scenes.

Help Build Character

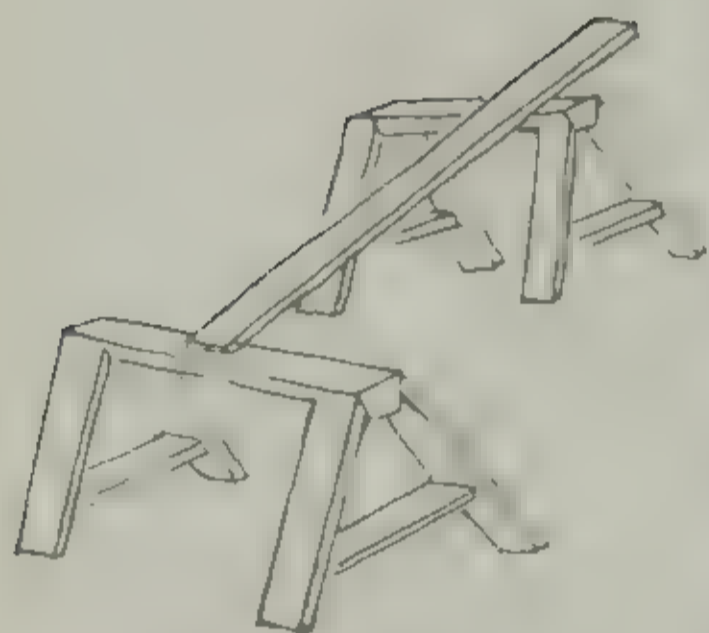

Our flag ceremony is one of the most impressive parts of our basketball games.

Both students and adults enjoyed the wonderful Christmas Pageant presented this year by third grade students under the capable direction of Miss Gelder and Mrs. Briglin.

ATHLETICS

Naples is a progressive school, offering to its students a variety of sports, and giving all an opportunity to participate. Good attributes are pep, personality, performance, poise and precision. Some of the sports played are soccer, baseball, volleyball, basketball, track, softball, tennis, and archery.

Under the capable guidance of our coach, Mr. Clark, our school teams have won a great deal of fame in the area. Through constant drilling and practice our teams have turned into excellent fighting forces, capable of vanquishing almost every foe.

Enthusiasm is the spark which puts life into a game. It is the cheerleaders pulling a deafening roar from the crowd. It is a volleyball player mastering a serve. It is the runner breaking the tape. It is the boy or girl exhilarated by his work and achievements. It is the player finding glory in triumph and nobility in defeat.

Sports minded individuals develop spark, spunk.

First Row: S. Randall, D. Danaher, V. Seager. Second Row: J. Adams, D. Dillon, J. Reed, J. Stafford, Coach Clark.

BASEBALL

The baseball team started out the season very enthusiastically last year. They had five wins and three losses. The team was unable to participate in the finals but accepted their defeats with good sportsmanship.

TRACK

Track is one of the most interesting sports our school has to offer, well liked by all. Last year our team went to the county meet where they placed third.

Hard Playing Team

This year our "Big Green" defeated Kendall, Red Creek, and Arkport in the sectionals to capture the Section 5 Class C Championship. We have won this championship three times in the last four years and narrowly missed winning it in the 1955-56 season.

The highlight of the year came to our school when we were selected to receive the Finger Lakes B.C.D Sportsmanship Award, the most inspiring honor a school may receive.

They're Champs

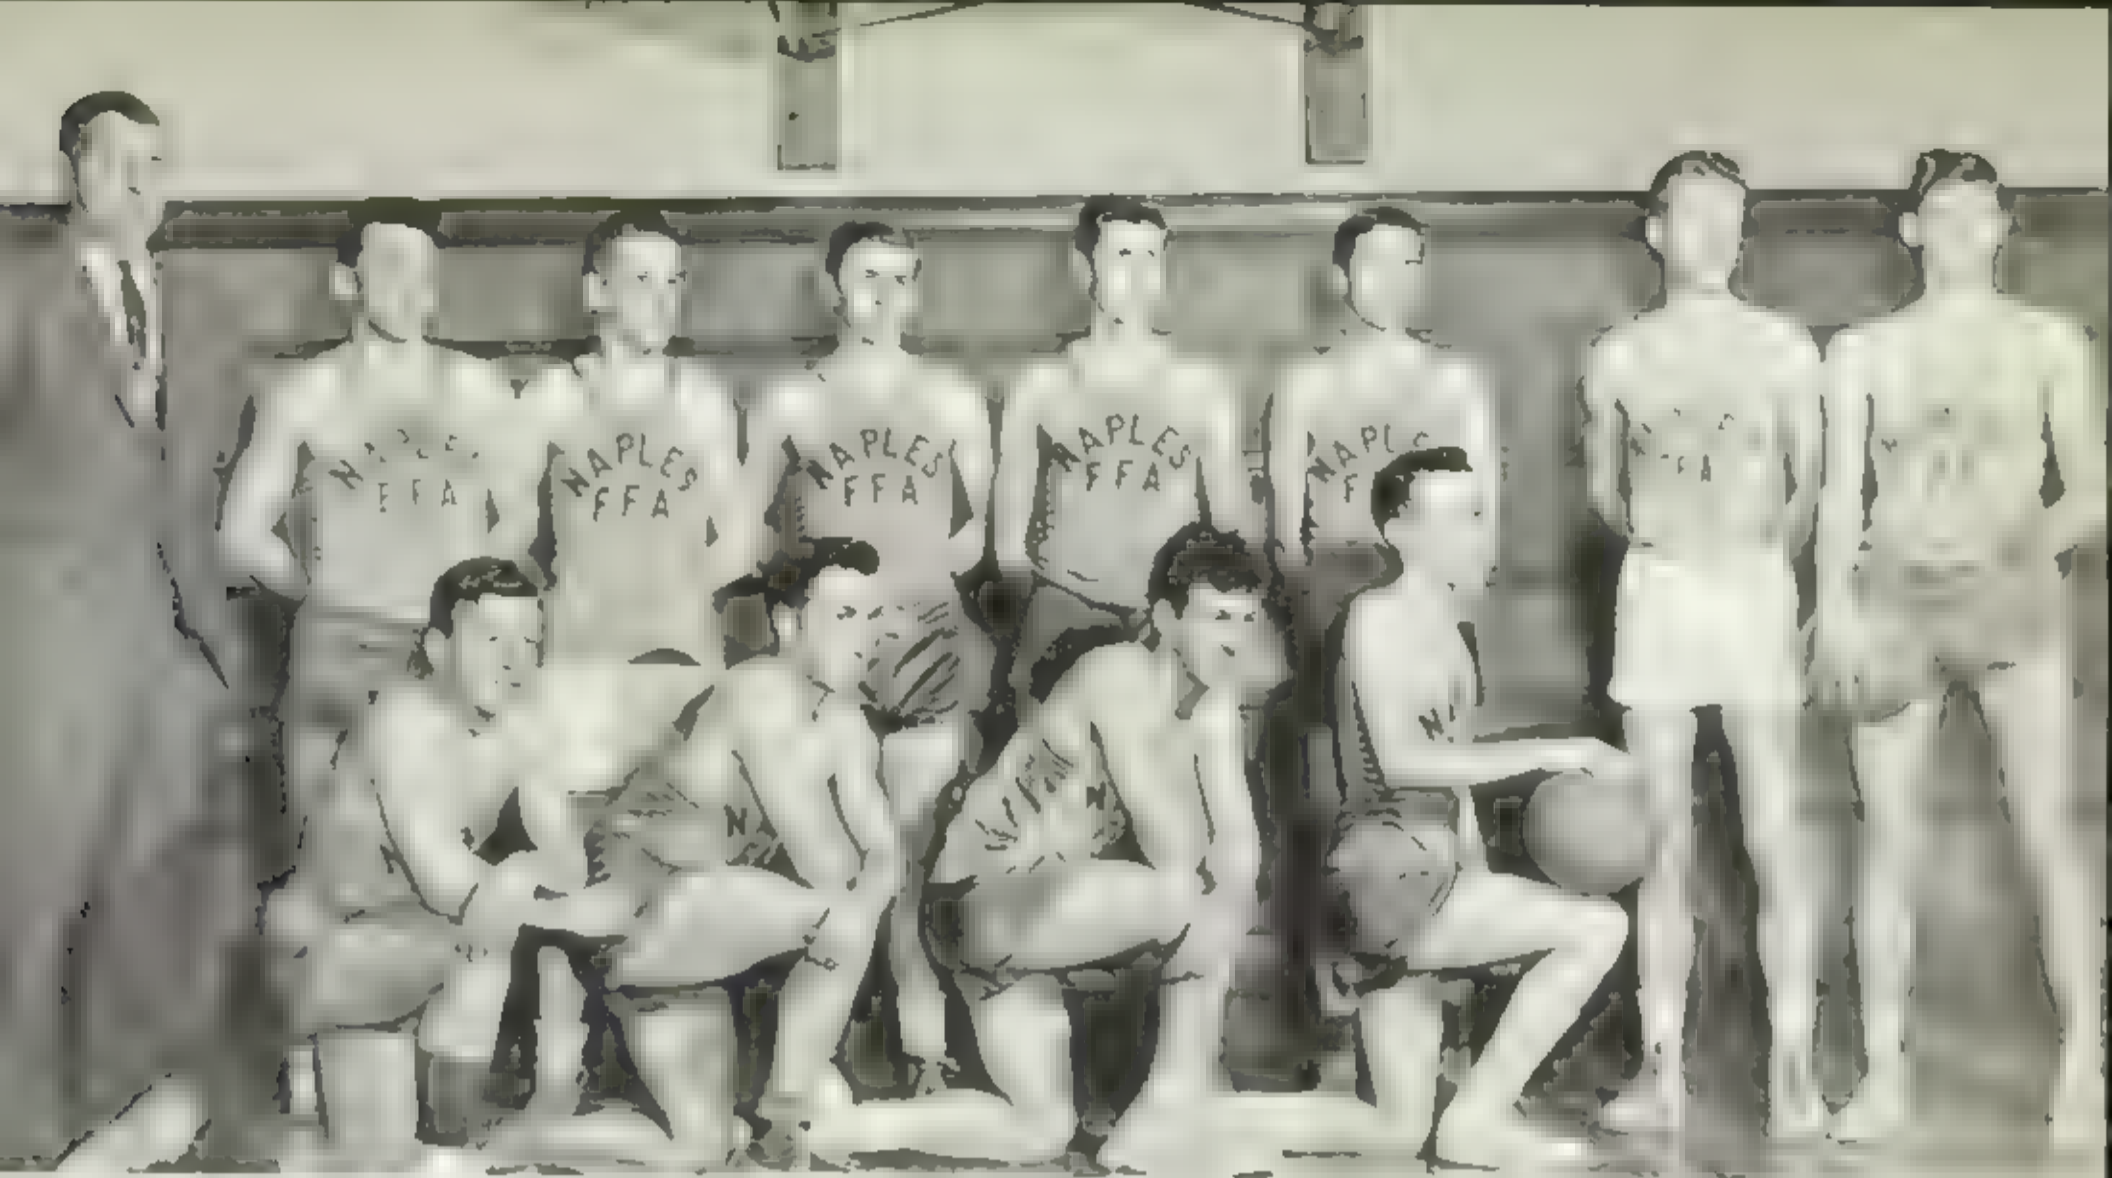

We are very proud of our Junior Varsity basketball team this year, under the faithful coaching of Mr. Moore. They have had a fine season this year, losing only two league games. All of the boys displayed excellent sportsmanship and teamwork. These qualities and abilities are promising material for the Big Green next year.

CLASSES

When a student starts kindergarten, he has taken the first real step in building and developing his mind. In the next few years he gradually learns how to adapt himself to working and cooperating with others outside his home.

As the years go by, he develops his own personality, his own interests, and his own characteristics. He becomes an individual with certain capabilities and talents, often depending upon his environment.

The student entering high school finds himself with more responsibilities than ever before. How he accepts these responsibilities is very important. The student anxious and willing to do his share and take part actively in his school and community is the student who will become a mature citizen in the world of tomorrow.

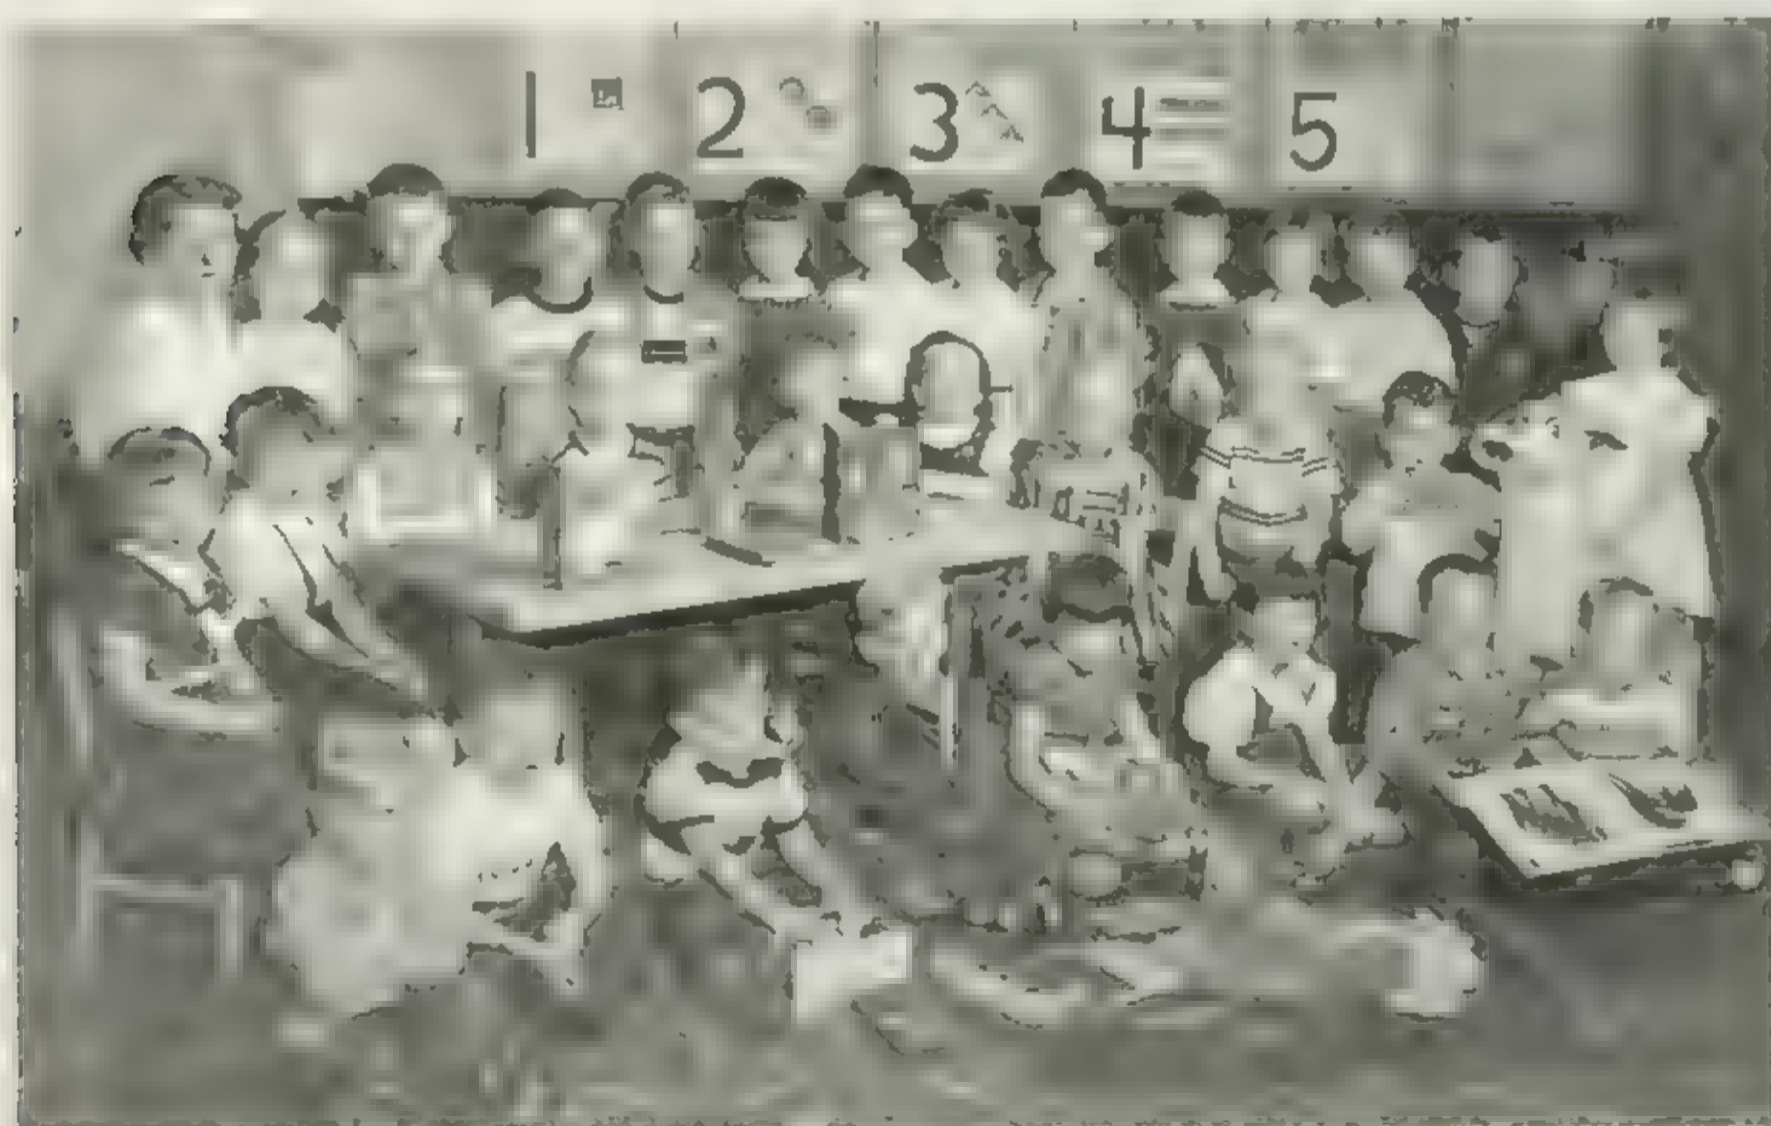

The teachers and parents can open the door and show us the way, but we ourselves determine the power and the strength of the lives we build.

FRESHMEN build their hopes on the future.

As freshmen we too are building, building toward the future when we will become the graduating class of 1960.

Our progress toward that mark has been highlighted by many extra curricular activities such as basketball and cheerleading which quite a few of our fellow classmates went out for and contributed a great deal to.

Another highlight in our first year of high school was the traditional freshman initiation where the girls were hilariously dressed as farmers and the boys as farmer's wives just awakening in the morning.

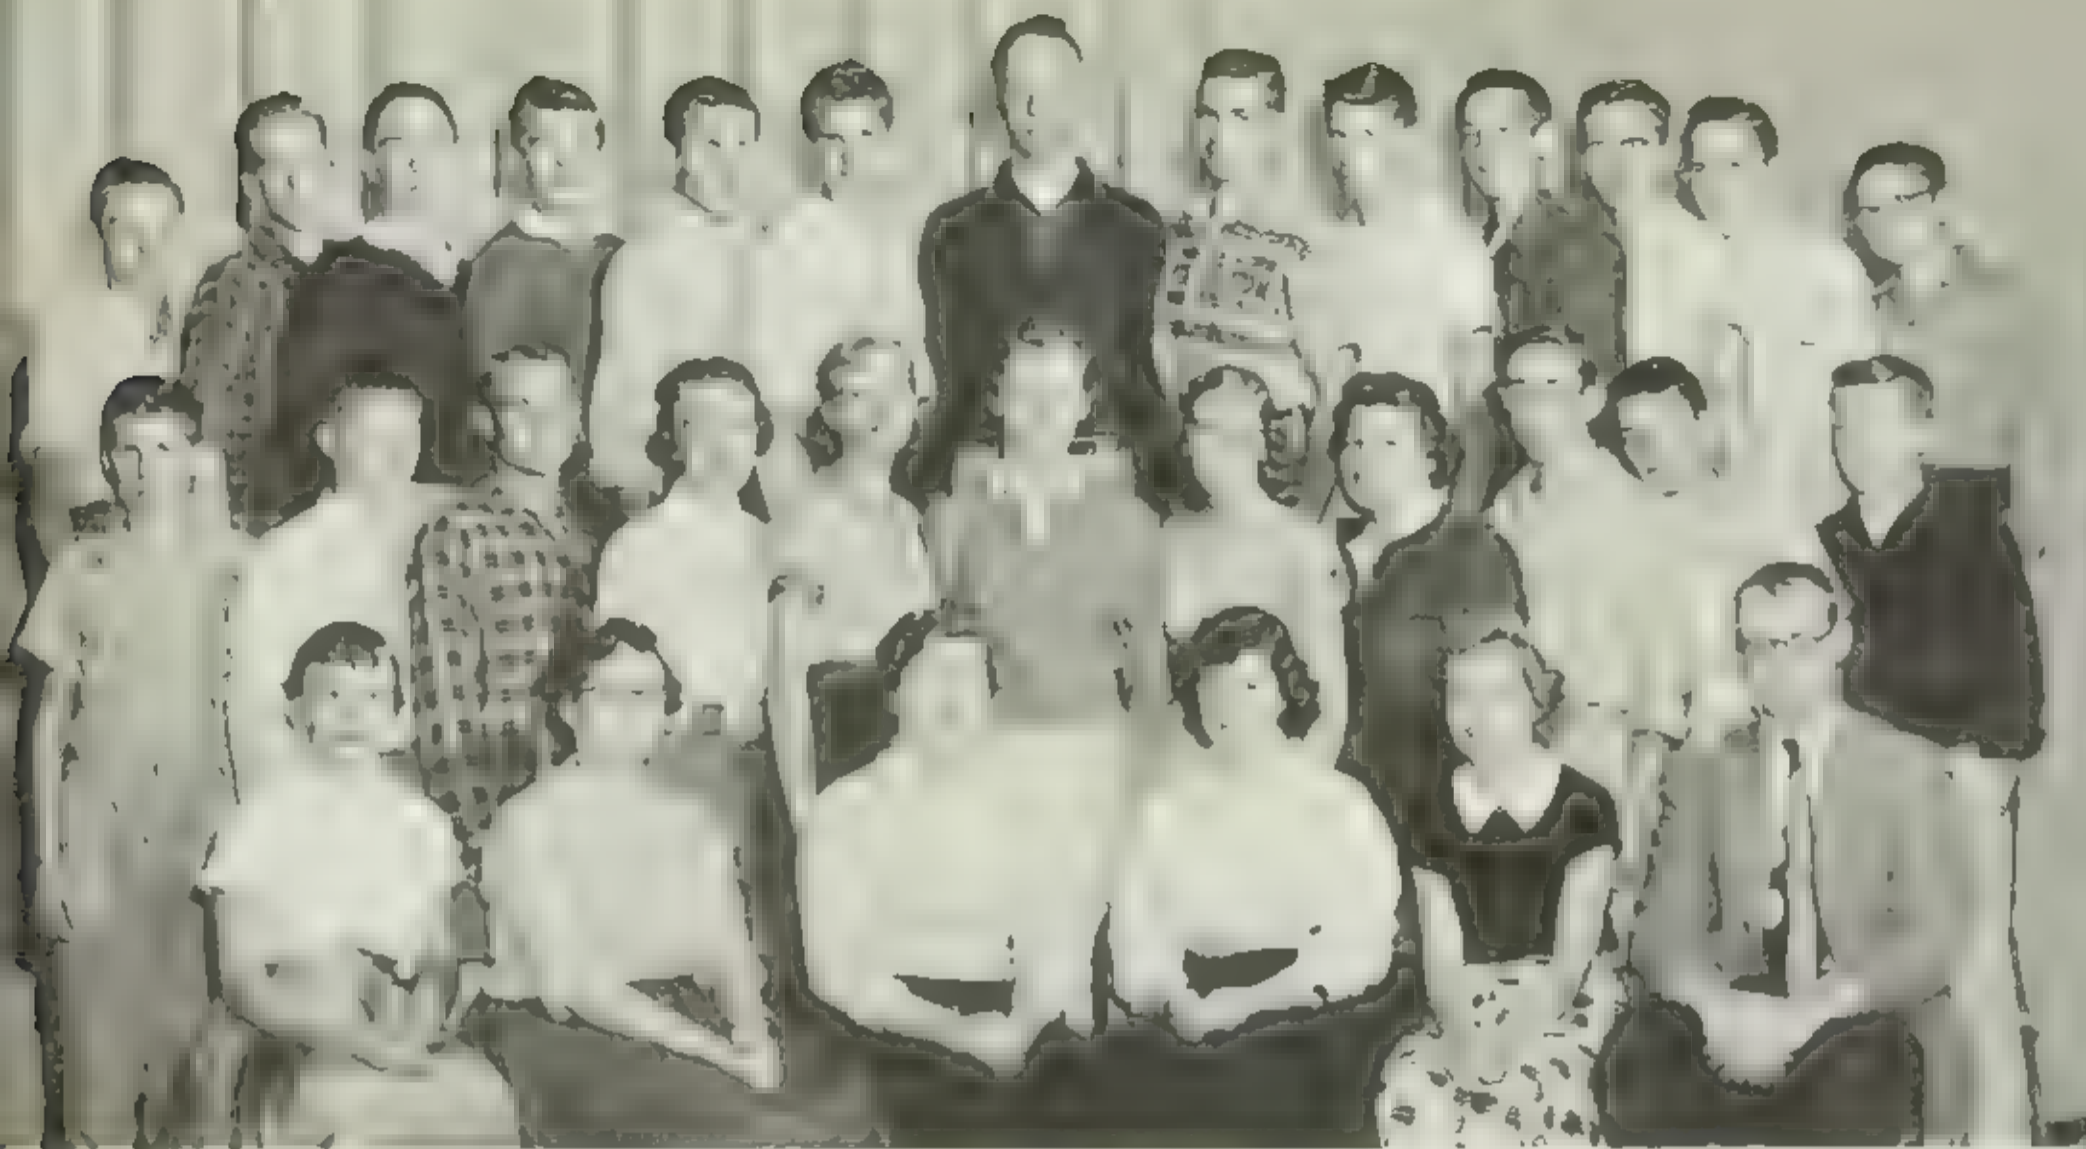

For money making projects we have sold refreshments at two basketball games and sponsored a record hop.

We certainly have had fun in our first year and hope that our next three years will prove as rewarding.

SOPHOMORES find a blue print is helpful

We sophomores are trying to build a better future by upholding the school standards and by taking part in school projects. We are all striving to be better citizens because we know we will take part in world affairs in the future.

We all help by taking the necessary subjects, listening in school and doing the things expected of us. We learn our responsibilities by putting on suppers, bake sales, and drives. We plan these things by ourselves to show others and ourselves that we are capable.

In our sophomore year we are planning on our senior trip which we have been anticipating since we were freshmen. We also started looking at class rings. We could hardly wait until we got our orders in for them.

The sophomore class contributed many promising athletes to this year's sports activities. We are all looking toward new and better things in the future

as the JUNIOR CLASS also discovered

As you climb the ladder of progress and success you will find the juniors on the next to the last step. We all have one main goal in mind, graduating from high school and taking our senior trip, along with smaller goals along the way.

This year we have many projects which we hope will be successful. The most important one is the Junior Prom. There are also suppers, drives and other events which not only help our treasury, but help us to cultivate a better social background. To make these projects successful it takes a great deal of cooperation and planning, which helps to prepare us for a wholesome adult life.

LEAVE SOME FOR THE SUPPER! The juniors are anxiously awaiting to serve their roast beef supper which was a great success

J. Reed, P. Cleveland, B. McClelland, J. Brand, B. Burd

DON'T SCORCH THEM. In Homemaking Class these girls learn the proper techniques of housekeeping

B. Reed, M. Mueller, D. Pulver, M. Luffman, P. Washburn

Many Activities

EASY DOES IT. These F.F.A. boys test many samples in order to build the fertility of their land to the highest producing level. R. Angelo, R. Worden, M. Bodine, R. Evarts, J. Francis.

Caps and gowns complete our four year plan.

Clad in graduation robes, moving slowly in a procession with our classmates, we near the end of our long voyage. We have almost reached our goal, we are almost to our destination, we have finished our building here. Walking side by side, we gradually realize we are leaving these beloved halls for the last time as students.
